BIOGRAPHY

Nana Okru Baah V, known in private life as Felix Aidoo-Rockson, was born on 31st March 1952 at Gomoa Achiase to Nana Nguando (Odikro of Gomoa Nkrozan) and Obaapany Adjoa Nkwodweba of Gomoa Achiase, from the Royal Asebu Twidan family. He was the second child born to his parents and the last of six children born to his mother.

He began his basic education at Gomoa Achiase L/A Primary Basic School and continued his studies at the Commercial Business School in Agona Swedru, where he distinguished himself in Accounting and Management. His early years clearly showed signs of the deep wisdom and humility he would later bring to the royal stool.

Before ascending the stool, Nana worked diligently with Total Ghana, rising to the position of station manager at Nkawkaw. He was subsequently transferred to the Tema Main Harbour, then to the Tema Fishing Harbour, and finally to Accra Newtown, where he retired in 2017 due to ill health.

He was widely known among colleagues for his strict discipline, absolute fairness, and hardworking nature. Upon the passing of his predecessor, Nana Okru Ampiaa IV, he was nominated and duly enstooled as Nana Okru Baah V, Odikro of Gomoa Achiase,

Under the Gomoa Ajumako Traditional Area. He solemnly swore the traditional oath of allegiance to Omanhen Otupon of the Gomoa Ajumako Traditional Council. Nana's years on the ancestral stool were marked by profound achievements:

1. Peace & Unity: He peacefully settled major land and family disputes within the jurisdiction without requiring external court intervention.
 2. Development: He successfully lobbied for the advancement of the Achiase Methodist Basic School, the extension of electricity infrastructure, and the construction of the Gomoa Achiase Community Durbar grounds.
 3. Culture: He beautifully revived the historic Gomoa Achiase Akwambo festival.
- Nana was survived by his wife, Madam Emma Arthur, and fourteen children, though he naturally stepped into the role of a loving father to many other children within the community.

After a brief illness, Nana Okru Baah V peacefully joined his ancestors on 29th November 2020 at the Kasoa Polyclinic at the age of 70. When chiefs are present, the youth have strength. Nana gave Achiase that true strength. His humility, courage, and unconditional love for his people will remain our guiding light. Daa yie, Ohene pa. Your stool will have a worthy successor. Da yie, Da yie Nana.

TRIBUTE TO MY BELOVED HUSBAND

Romans 14 : 7 – 8

7. For none of us lives for ourselves alone, and none of us dies for ourselves alone. 8. If we live, we live for the Lord; and if we die, we die for the Lord. So, whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord.

My beloved husband, words can never fully express the depth of my love for you or the pain of your absence. We met in 1980 and began a beautiful journey together. In 1985, we embarked on a marriage that lasted 35 wonderful years. Through every season of life, you remained my partner, my confidant, my strength, and my greatest blessing.

You were a hardworking man who always ensured that your family lacked nothing. No matter the circumstances, you worked tirelessly to provide for us and made sure there was always food on the table. Your dedication, sacrifice, and commitment to your family spoke volumes about the kind of man you were.

You were generous and kind to everyone you met. Your heart was open to all, and your willingness to help others made you loved by many. Through your kindness, guidance, and fatherly care, you made me a mother to many children.

One thing I will always cherish is your wonderful sense of humor. You had a special way of making people laugh, even during difficult times. The jokes we shared, the laughter that filled our home, and the joy you brought into our lives are memories I will treasure forever.

Your departure has left a void that can never be filled, but I find comfort in the beautiful memories we created together and the legacy of love, kindness, and integrity that you left behind. Your impact on our family, friends, and community will continue to live on for generations.

Though you are no longer physically with us, you remain forever in my heart. Thank you for loving me, caring for our family, and making our years together so meaningful.

Rest peacefully, my dear husband. Until we meet again, I will hold onto the memories, cherish the love we shared, and thank God for the privilege of being your wife.

Forever loved, forever remembered, and forever missed.

May the Almighty God keep you in the bosom of Abraham. Fare thee well.

— Your Loving Wife

There are some pains words can never truly explain, and there are some losses the heart may never fully recover from. Today, we stand before family, friends, and loved ones with broken hearts to pay tribute to our beloved father, Nana Okru-Baah V, known in private life as Felix Kwame Baah Aidoo Rockson.

Daddy, your death shook us deeply. It is difficult to accept that the strong voice we once heard, the comforting presence we relied on, and the fatherly guidance we used to cherish has been silent for years now and it is sadly going to remain the same forever.

You were not just our father — you were our foundation, our protector, our counselor, and our source of strength. Through every stage of our lives, you carried the burdens of fatherhood with courage and sacrifice. You worked tirelessly to ensure that we lacked nothing, often putting the needs of your children and family above your own comfort.

What pains us most is remembering the struggles and suffering you endured before your passing. We watched you fight silently through difficult moments with bravery and dignity. Even when your strength began to fail, your concern was never about yourself — it was always about your children, your family, and the people you loved. There were days your body was evidently weak, yet your spirit remained strong. There were moments of pain you tried to hide behind a smile just to prevent us from worrying. Watching you go through those difficult times was heartbreaking for us as your children. We prayed, hoped, and wished for your full recovery, believing we would still have more time with you. But God, in His infinite wisdom, called you home.

Daddy, you taught us resilience not through words alone, but through the life you lived. You showed us how to endure hardship with dignity, how to remain humble in difficult times, and how to stand strong even when life becomes unfair.

As Nana Okru-Baah V, many saw your leadership and strength, but we had the privilege of knowing the loving, caring, and selfless man behind the title. You carried the responsibilities of family and community with honor. You gave without expecting anything in return. You supported many people quietly, wiped away the tears of others while hiding your own pain, and continued to sacrifice even when you were tired.

Daddy, your departure has created a wound in our hearts that may never completely heal. We already miss your voice, your advice, your laughter, your corrections, and the way you always wanted peace and unity within the family.

Tribute continue.....

TRIBUTE BY CHILDREN

Though tears fill our eyes today, we are grateful for the life you lived and the legacy you leave behind. You may no longer walk beside us physically, but your lessons, values, and memories will remain with us forever.

We promise to uphold the principles you taught us — respect, honesty, hard work, unity, and humility. We promise to make you proud even in your absence.

It hurts to say goodbye, Daddy. Very painful. But we take comfort in knowing that your suffering has ended and that you are finally at peace. Rest well, Nana Okru-Baah V. Rest well, our beloved father. Rest well, Felix Aidoo Rockson.

You fought a good fight. You carried your burdens with courage. You loved your family wholeheartedly. You will forever remain in our hearts. Forever Loved, Forever Missed.

TRIBUTE FROM GRANDCHILDREN

1 Thessalonians 4:14

For since we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so, through Jesus, God will bring with him those who have fallen asleep.

Our dear Grandpa, "Nana, ohene pa, owura a ne bo dwo na ne nyansa ye duru." You were the pillar of our family, the light that guided us through dark days. Grandpa, you were more than a title to us. You were the warm laughter that greeted us when we arrived, the storyteller who kept us captivated for hours, and the gentle hand that guided us in the ways of life. Your reign was not of power, but of service. With every word of counsel, you steered us away from harm. With every warm embrace, you reminded us we were safe. With every laugh, you filled our house with life.

"Nana, w'adwuma pa εda yen adwene mu daa." Though you have gone to be with the Lord, your name and your good deeds will forever remain in our hearts. We firmly believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. Our beloved Grandpa, a shining star in our family's firmament, has left us to ascend to the heavens. With a reign spanning many years, he ruled our lives with kindness, compassion, and strength. "Wokasa a yanya anidasoo wo mu." Your wise counsel guided us through life's storms, your warm embrace comforted us in times of need, and your infectious laughter filled our lives with joy.

Though many of us were young when you were with us, your presence left an indelible impression on our hearts. We saw in you a man of great dignity — a man who walked with purpose and led with love. We watched our parents look up to you, and that told us everything we needed to know. You were the root from which all of us grew. We may not have had enough time with you, but the moments we did share are treasures we will carry forever.

Grandpa's legacy is not just the memories we hold dear, but the values he instilled in us: integrity, resilience, and love. He taught us to stand tall, to stand strong, and to stand together. We promise to make you proud. We will honor your name. We will live in a way that reflects the values you instilled in this family. As we bid you farewell, we honor your life, your leadership, and your unwavering dedication to our family. We will miss you dearly, but we will continue to draw strength from your wisdom, comfort from your love, and inspiration from your remarkable life.

Sleep well, Grandpa. You have earned your rest.
We love you more than words can say.
Farewell, noble Grandpa. Your kingdom may be gone, but your reign in our hearts will never end.

TRIBUTE FROM THE GREAT GRANDCHILDREN

Great-Grandpa, we may have been too young to fully understand what it meant to have you with us, but we know now — and we feel it every day. The stories our parents tell us about you paint a picture of a man who was great in every sense of the word. A man who loved his family above all else. A man who worked hard, laughed often, and never stopped giving.

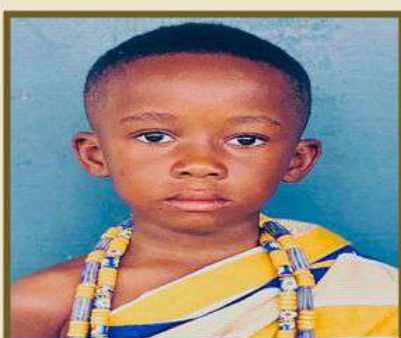

We are proud to carry your name and your legacy. As we grow, we will learn more about the man you were, and we will strive to live lives worthy of the heritage you have left behind.

Thank you for the foundation you built.
Thank you for the love you passed down through the generations.

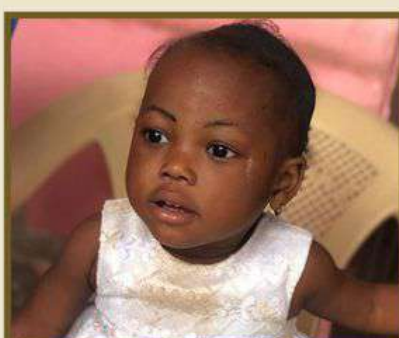

We are here because of you, and we will never forget that.
Rest in perfect peace, Great-Grandpa

TRIBUTE FROM THE IN-LAWS

We, the in-laws of the late Nana Okru-Baah V, are deeply honored to pay this tribute to a remarkable man whose life touched so many people. Today, we gather with heavy hearts to bid farewell to a loving father, grandfather, brother, friend, and father-in-law. Though words cannot fully express the pain of losing such a cherished person, they can help us celebrate a life well lived. He welcomed us into his family with warmth, kindness, and genuine love.

From the very first day we became part of his family, he treated us not as outsiders but as his own children. His wisdom, humility, and sense of responsibility made him a pillar upon whom many depended. He was a man of integrity whose actions spoke louder than words. He taught us the importance of hard work, honesty, respect, and family unity. Through his example, he showed us how to live a life of dignity and purpose.

He rejoiced in the successes of his children and in-laws and shared in their burdens during difficult times. As a husband and father, he demonstrated unwavering love and commitment to his family. His devotion to ensuring the welfare and progress of his loved ones will remain a lasting legacy for generations to come.

Though we mourn his passing, we are grateful to God for the gift of his life and for the many wonderful memories we shared with him. We take comfort in knowing that his good works, values, and lessons will continue to guide us. Papa, your departure has left a void that can never truly be filled. Yet your memory will forever remain in our hearts.

We shall remember your kindness, your laughter, your counsel, and the love you generously shared with all who knew you. On behalf of all your in-laws, we express our heartfelt gratitude for the privilege of knowing and being part of your family. We pray that the Almighty grants you eternal rest and grants the family the strength and comfort to bear this great loss.

Though we mourn his passing, we hold firmly to the promise of our Lord Jesus Christ in John 11:25: "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me, though he may die, yet shall he live." May his memory remain blessed among us, and may his soul rest in perfect peace until the resurrection morning. Amen
